Arlington suspect dies in custody after police chase ends near Sanger

Last week Arlington Police were called to the 1800 block of Holly Oak Street around 7:15 p.m. on Wednesday for reports of a male trying to run over a woman with his vehicle.

When the police arrived, they briefly spoke to the suspect who was inside his vehicle. He drove away from the scene in his Nissan Altima.

The investigation revealed he was accused of "violently assaulting" the victim and causing serious injuries, police said.

Around 2 a.m. the suspect vehicle was spotted traveling westbound on I-20 near the Arlington-Fort Worth border. Officers also learned the suspect was on parole for aggravated kidnapping.

Police began chasing the suspect, and it ended in Denton County, near Sanger, on I-35.

Arlington police say officers tried to have the suspect exit his vehicle, but there was no response.

A drone was deployed and officers believed he was in medical distress.

They approached the vehicle and began life-saving measures. Arlington Police say the officers administered Narcan to the suspect.

The suspect was taken to a nearby hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Police say narcotics were found inside the vehicle.

Sanger predicted to become the new Gateway to DFW

WFAA has a new special report called "Boomtown" that explores the rapid growth and expansion of the DFW area. Their most recent article focuses on the City of Sanger and its future prediction to become the new Gateway to DFW! They posted this article on their website at wfaa.com last week.

SANGER, Texas — Could this city with just over 10,000 residents near the Texas-Oklahoma border along I-35 become the new "gateway" to Dallas-Fort Worth?

Officials in Sanger in Denton County, about 50 miles north of Dallas, say they believe their city will.

"DFW has crept up at the door and we are the next frontier for North Texas," Sanger City Manager John Noblitt said at a recent conference for city planners. "We imagine in 10 years, the gateway to DFW will be Sanger."

From 2010 to 2020, Sanger's population grew from 6,916 to 8,839, according to U.S. Census Bureau data, and is up more than 30% from 2012 to 2022.

By 2024, the population grew to 9,703, according to data on the city's website, and it's projected to grow to 11,037 by 2029. By 2040, officials estimate Sanger's population will reach 17,048, up nearly 90% from the 2020 estimated population of 9,080, according to Sanger's 2024 housing study.

"As the DFW area expands northward, driven by available land and increasing housing demands, we believe Sanger is positioned to become the next gateway to DFW over the next decade," Noblitt said.

New home builds are also on the rise in Sanger.

From fiscal year 2023-2024, the city issued 68 new residential building permits, up from 16 in fiscal year 2022-2023.

Over a thousand homes are slated in a couple of subdivisions inside the city limits and more than that in rural areas outside the city limit line.

What's driving growth in Sanger?

City officials attribute this growth to both its location on the I-35 corridor and economic growth both within the city and the larger North Texas region.

Denton County experienced a 67% increase in GDP between 2017 and 2022, compared to a 42.41% increase in the DFW metro area at large during the same period, according to Bureau of Economic Analysis data the city cited in its study.

According to Sanger's 2024 housing study, 11 new retail businesses are opening or have recently opened, with about 5,748,000 square feet of industrial space being developed. The Star Business Park in Sanger will include about 5,000,000 square feet of industrial space and another nearly 700,000 square feet of industrial space is being developed on a 90-acre plot south of the Walmart distribution center off Stemmons Freeway in the city.

Sanger's growth is also connected to the growth in the larger DFW area.

The city of Denton receives the largest number of commuters from Sanger at 987, followed by Dallas at 436 and Fort Worth at 252.

"The small portion of Sanger's workforce that is employed within the city might indicate that there is a mismatch between employment opportunities and available housing options, or between the industries present in the city and the skill sets of residents," the housing study reads. "While Sanger's own economy has steadily grown over the course of several decades, its connection to the broader Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex is significant, and the economic growth of surrounding cities will have an impact on Sanger's economy and housing market."

The industries that employ the most Sanger residents are construction, manufacturing and educational services, representing about 34% of the workforce, according to the housing study.

How Sanger is preparing for future growth

Water and infrastructure needs are among the top concerns of Sanger officials as the population continues to grow.

Sanger has a wastewater collection system that serves about 3,386 properties and a population of about 9,080, according to the housing study.

"While current requirements are met, future population growth will necessitate infrastructural improvements," the housing study notes.

Noblitt said the city is working to develop a 450-acre site that the city owns to help address future water and wastewater needs. According to the 2024 housing study, Sanger is also preparing to install new wells and replace and extend water lines in the coming years.

The city is also working to meet the demand for housing.

"Sanger's median household income is $86,083, which is 15.4% higher than the national average," Sanger's housing study reads. "This income distribution has 24.10% of households earning less than $50,000 annually, indicating a potential need for affordable housing options...The federal poverty line in 2022 was $29,950, and Sanger has a lower percentage of households earning less than $25,000 compared to both Denton County and the national average. The relatively low level of low-income households in Sanger would suggest a lesser demand for attainable housing in Sanger, compared to the broader need for attainable housing."

Noblitt said that as the city plans for growth, Sanger is also working to preserve its small-town heritage.

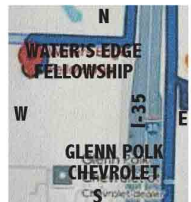

"Sanger is fortunate that much of our planning occurred before the large-scale development began," he said. "This proactive approach allows us to move forward with purpose, striking a balance between growth and preserving the small-town character that is important to many of our residents."

"Come all you who are thirsty, come to the water."

Time for some financial spring cleaning

Nikki Smith
Financial Advisor

Spring is here — which means it's once again time to wash the windows, organize your cabinets and steam your carpets. This year, in addition to tidying up around your house, why not also consider some financial spring cleaning?

Here are some suggestions to consider:

“De-clutter” your investment portfolio. When you embark on your home cleaning mission, you might notice that you have redundancies — three blenders, two vacuum cleaners, and so on. Similarly, you might find duplications in your investment portfolio, perhaps in the form of multiple, near-identical stocks or mutual funds. If so, then it might be worthwhile to consider selling some of these investments and using the proceeds to boost your portfolio in other areas in which you may be lacking.

Cut back on “overgrown” investments. Now that winter is over and you're venturing outside more, you may notice some overgrown shrubbery or some tree branches that need pruning. And while it may sound counterintuitive, you might also have some investments that have grown too big for your needs. For example, you might own some growth-oriented investments whose value has increased so much that they now take up a larger percentage of your portfolio — and carry a higher degree of risk — than you originally intended. If that's the case, you might be better off by selling some of these investments and purchasing others to help bring your investment mix back to its desired alignment.

Dust off your investment strategy. With more sunlight now pouring in your house, you might notice that the corners of your walls and ceiling may need a good dusting. And as you continually work to strengthen your financial foundation, you may need to dust off your investment strategy, especially if you've recently experienced changes in your life, such as a marriage, addition of children, new job, and so on. And as you move closer to retirement, you may also need to adjust your strategy in some ways. For one thing, you might want to adopt a more conservative investment approach in the years immediately preceding your retirement, though you'll still need to have some growth potential in your portfolio to help keep you ahead of inflation.

Protect yourself from financial dangers. As you go about your household spring cleaning, you may find actual physical dangers that need to be removed or stored more safely, such as sharp objects or broken tools. And as you navigate daily life, you may also find threats to your financial safety — the need for an expensive home improvement, or a major car repair or an unexpectedly large medical bill. If you don't have the money available to pay these expenses, you might be forced to dip into your retirement accounts or run up your credit card or take out a high-rate loan. To protect yourself from having to make these moves, you may want to maintain an emergency fund containing several months' worth of living expenses, with the money kept in a liquid account, separate from those you use for your daily living expenses.

Of course, some of these moves can take some time — but by getting started on them soon, you can help put your financial house in better shape by the time the next spring cleaning rolls around.

Sunny's Thoughts

Haven't shared my thoughts with you lately. Just seems like time got away from me during the holidays. And, that is what my thoughts are about today. Well, not all holidays, just those in December and not world-wide just those "celebrated" in this wonderful and diverse country of ours. Our melting pot of cultures offers so many holidays. Not only do we have various holiday celebrations every day in December is in honor or recognition of someone or something. Hang on and we will take a very quick trip through December, 2024.

We have Hindu celebrations, for example Pancha Ganapatil. It is a five day festival honoring Lord Ganesha, the elephant-headed god of new beginnings and culture. An example of a Chinese festival or celebration is the Dongzhi, which takes place between December 21 and 23. It is a time for family meeting and eating seasonal foods and sharing their hope for the coming year. But that is not all.

We also have several Muslim celebrations that occur in the month of December. Muslim celebrations in December include: Eid al-Adha which marks the end of fasting during Ramadan; then there is Mawlid an-Nabi which celebrates the birth of the Prophet Muhammad. Following that is Al-Hijra the Islamic New Year which concludes wiAshura that commemorates the martyrdom of Imam Hussein. Isra and Mi'raj commemorates the night journey of the Prophet Muhammad.

Probably more familiar to many of us would be the celebrations of the Winter Solstice, Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, New Year's Eve. New Year's Day. Of course, most of us are more familiar with Christian holidays but even that reveals celebrations some of us might not be familiar with. Our Christian celebrations differ somewhat between Catholic and Protestant. And, even withing the various Protestants there may be some revelations. As far as Catholic celebrations go they also differ sometimes depending on the ethnic group.

Along with the religious celebrations we have set aside an honor for every day in December. These special days honor everything from serious to fun: Ugly Christmas Sweater Day, Cookie Baking Day, Cookie Cutter Day, Cyber Safety Sunday, Rosa Parks Day, National Wear a Dress Day. Days set aside for Giving, Special Education, International Disabilities, Green Bean Casserole and I could go on and on. Some days even have to honor more than one thing.

As if we did not have enough celebratory emphasis people have to "invent" so called ethnic celebrations, which I will not name here but I can truthfully reveal was "introduced" by an ex-convict Marxist turned college professor (research it for yourself deep research not just surface Google, this is the truth). It appears we are celebration crazy LOL.

It looks very much like we are hooked on celebrating. Maybe it is the human in us or our heart or whatever. What I think is that we just have to find ways to express our feelings about the world that surrounds us. Some of those things are obviously serious and worthy while some are just plain amusing and fun. I think we should probably give our choices a bit more deep thought. I can say here that in our quest for something to celebrate let it warm our hearts, our souls or our sense of humor. Beware those things that make us less of a spiritual being.

Sanger Police Department Partners with Education Foundation, Inc. and the Sanger ISD to launch the Blue Santa Program to Support Local Students in Need

The City of Sanger Police Department last week announced the launch of its annual Blue Santa Program, a heartwarming initiative dedicated to supporting at-risk students within Sanger ISD. In collaboration with the Sanger Education Foundation and Sanger ISD, this program provides essential items, toys, and holiday cheer for Sanger ISD students facing economic hardship.

Blue Santa is about more than just spreading holiday cheer—it's about making a tangible impact. The program will provide essential items such as pillows, blankets, toiletries, and other necessities, as identified by school counselors. Additionally, each student will receive personalized gifts from their wish lists, ensuring they feel valued and supported by their community.

Identifying Children in Need:

Sanger ISD counselors will play a crucial role in identifying children who may benefit from the program. Counselors will compile a list of eligible students, including their essential needs and wish list items. All information will be handled with confidentiality and used solely for the program's purpose.

How to Get Involved:

Toys & Essentials Donations: New, unwrapped toys, clothing, blankets, socks, underwear, etc. can be dropped off at:

Sanger Court Office
Sanger Police Department
City Hall
Sanger Public Library
Sanger Fire Department
Sanger Education Foundation

Financial Donations

Cash Donations can be mailed to: Sanger Education Foundation, ATTN: Blue Santa, 400 Bolivar St, Suite 102, Sanger, TX 76266.

Volunteering

A call for volunteers will be sent out at a later date.

Community Involvement

Sanger Police Chief Tyson Cheek emphasized the program's importance: "The Blue Santa Program is a reflection of the heart of our community. It's about bringing people together to support our students in need, ensuring they have not only the essentials but also a sense of joy and belonging during the holiday season."

"This program is about more than just giving gifts; it's about letting these students know that their community cares about them," said Donna Green, Director of Marketing and Civic Engagement. "With the support of the Sanger ISD and the Sanger Education Foundation, we can reach those who need it most and make a meaningful impact."

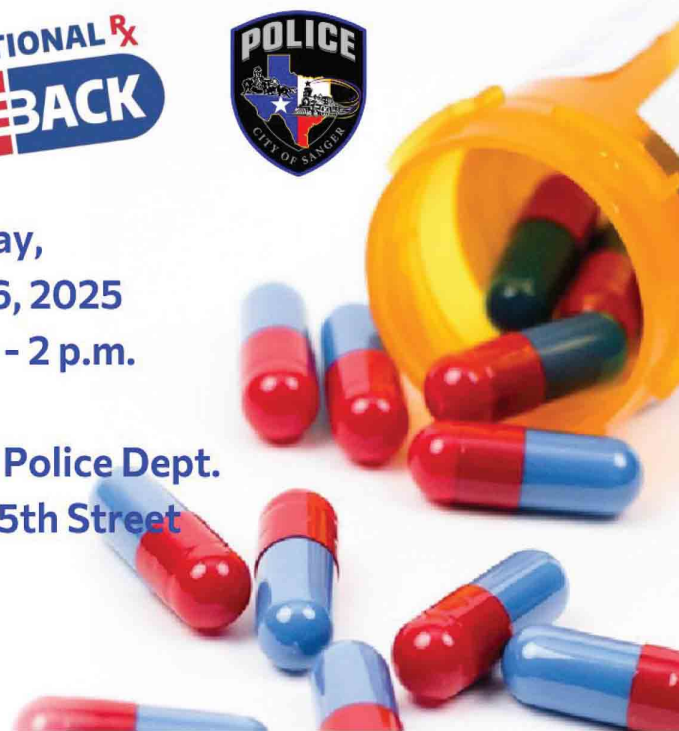

The City of Sanger encourages local businesses, organizations, and residents to get involved by donating essential items, toys, and bicycles, contributing funds or gift cards, or volunteering to assist with distribution efforts. Every contribution helps make a difference in the lives of these students.
