The questions that come after you've built your wealth

Nikki Smith
Financial Advisor

Preserving wealth requires asking different questions from the ones that built it. Once you've accumulated meaningful assets, the focus shifts from growth alone toward stewardship — keeping what you've built, directing it purposefully and making sure it continues to serve the people and causes that matter most to you.

The most important conversations often have little to do with investments. How wealth moves through a family, and what it carries with it, can matter just as much as asset allocation. How do you want future generations to steward family wealth? What values do you hope to pass on alongside financial assets? These are deeply personal questions, and the answers shape more than a balance sheet. They shape a family's story for generations to come.

Your needs at this stage run the gamut, spanning family and legacy, taxes and trusts, and access to specialized investments and services. Few of these decisions exist in isolation. A charitable gift may shape your tax strategy. A trust review may influence your estate plan. The sale of a business or a concentrated stock position may create new opportunities and new risks. One choice ripples into the next, and the connections between them create complexities that often require professional expertise to manage appropriately.

You may need guidance that spans multiple disciplines. Executive compensation rules, business succession structures and charitable trust strategies each carry their own complexities.

Then there is the element of change. The sale of a business, an inheritance or retirement often brings a rush of decisions, and the options can feel overwhelming. Choices multiply, and the window to make a decision can be narrow.

Family dynamics can add another layer of complexity, particularly when wealth is tied to a farm, ranch, family business or other shared asset that not all heirs will manage in the same way.

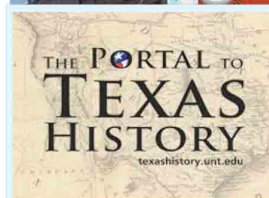

Whether your goal is early retirement or a more traditional path, a financial advisor can help you with a plan for your goals and the path ahead.

The opportunities that come with wealth are often accompanied by new risks. A concentrated stock position, an unexpected health event, a business transition or even family disagreements can have lasting financial consequences. Protecting what you've built requires thoughtful attention to risk, liquidity and long-term planning.

A financial advisor can help bring perspective to complex financial decisions. This may include understanding not only your investments but also the family dynamics, tax considerations, estate plans and legacy goals that surround them. By taking the time to understand what matters most to you, they can help you evaluate important decisions and coordinate the appropriate team of professionals when you need them. They also can help bring perspective during moments of significant change, when the stakes are highest and the options feel overwhelming. If your circumstances or priorities change, they evolve alongside you, adapting your plan as your needs and expectations shift over time.

Finding a financial advisor who's the right fit for your unique situation is what turns complexity into coordinated action and helps ensure that your wealth keeps working for the life you envision.

Nikki Smith is a financial advisor with Edward Jones in Sanger. She can be reached at 940-458-7866.

Please join the City of Sanger Fire Department/EMS in welcoming Lieutenant Cole Barringer, Lieutenant Daniel Wisian, and Lieutenant Terry Hardy as they step into an important new role with the Sanger Fire Department.

These three officers are becoming part of something bigger than a new assignment. They are helping pioneer a new approach to Fire and EMS service delivery in North Texas.

Sanger Fire Department is taking a different approach to emergency response by placing a Lieutenant directly on the MICU as the officer of a permanently staffed, three-person ambulance crew. This is not a temporary assignment or an occasional response model. It is a permanent staffing and operational model designed to provide dedicated officer leadership on the ambulance.

The Lieutenant will provide supervision and leadership from the moment the call is dispatched through arrival on scene, patient care, transport, and delivery at the receiving facility. At the same time, the MICU will function as a single-resource apparatus, capable of responding to a variety of emergencies based on community needs and the overall deployment of departmental resources.

This model recognizes an important reality of today's fire service: EMS is a significant part of what we do, and the personnel providing that service deserve the same level of leadership, accountability, and operational support that we provide on our fire apparatus.

By permanently staffing the MICU with three personnel and placing a Lieutenant in that role, Sanger is creating greater flexibility in how we deploy our resources while maintaining strong officer supervision and a high level of service to our community.

Lieutenants Barringer, Wisian, and Hardy are helping pioneer this approach. They are stepping into a role that challenges traditional thinking and explores what the next generation of Fire and EMS response can look like.

We don't know exactly where this model will lead, or how many other departments may eventually adopt similar concepts. But every advancement in the fire service begins with a department willing to look at the way things have always been done and ask, "Is there a better way?"

Sanger Fire Department is willing to ask that question—and willing to lead.

Welcome, Lieutenant Barringer, Lieutenant Wisian, and Lieutenant Hardy.

You are not simply stepping into a new position. You are helping pioneer what the future of the fire service may look like.

Behind the Scenes with a Denton County Commissioner - Episode 7

Ever wonder what a County Commissioner actually does? From everyday responsibilities to the decisions that shape our growing communities, there's more happening behind the scenes than you might think.

In this episode of the 266 Express, Sanger City Manager John Noblitt sits down with Denton County Commissioner Ryan Williams, Precinct 1, to learn about his background, daily routines, and approach to public service.

Indians win back to back regional championships

Sanger's varsity boys cross country team won back-to-back regional championships for the first time in school history on Monday at Rolling Hills Soccer Complex in Fort Worth in the Class 4A Region II meet.

Sanger is ranked no. 1 in the state and their top runners came in one-two and dominated the team total. Sophomore Bryden Meade won the meet with a 5K time of 15:45.6 out of 161 runners. David Martinez was second (15:51.3).

"I couldn't be prouder of how our young men competed out there. We spent all week dialing in a specific race plan, and the boys executed it to perfection. Our packs stayed disciplined and controlled from start to finish, leaving absolutely everything on the course," said SHS boys coach Tanner Rankin.

"Beyond any accolades, these athletes have approached every challenge with faith, giving God the glory through every situation.

They trust in His plan, and are driven by the desire to glorify Him and make our brothers watching over us proud. That kind of heart is what makes it an absolute honor to coach this team."

The UIL Cross Country State Championships for high schools in Texas take place on November 6-7, 2026 at Old Settlers Park in Round Rock, Texas. The event spans two days across various conferences.

The SHS boys will run on Friday, November 6 at 11:25 a.m..

They did everything I have asked of them and they are fired up for the state meet next week and a regional rematch next year!”

Indians blow out Lake Worth, host Ponder on Friday

Sanger picked up its second consecutive shut-out win of district play last Friday with a 59-0 rout of Lake Worth.

The Indians (6-2, 2-1) took a 49-0 lead into half-time after Bola Ogunwuyi, Austin Martin and Chris Ramirez ran for the three offensive touchdowns in the first half. Jonas Autry scored twice defensively on a pick-six and scoop-and-score, David Foster recovered a fumble in the end zone for a touchdown, and Channon Anoh returned an interception for a touchdown on the final play of the half.

Ogunwuyi ran for one touchdown in the third quarter, and Niko Beck added a 39-yard field goal late in the third period to set the final margin.

Sanger looks to keep the momentum rolling Friday, Oct. 30, with a home game against Ponder (5-3, 2-1) at 7 p.m.

KYLA SHERIFF REACHES CAREER MILESTONE

Sanger Lady Indians junior setter Kyla Sheriff has reached 1,000 career assists, an accomplishment that reflects her hard work, growth and connection with her teammates. For Kyla, the milestone belongs to more than one player. Every assist starts with a pass and ends with a teammate putting the ball away—a connection she credits to trust, communication and everyone doing their part. “Every assist comes from a good pass and a kill,” Kyla said. With the Lady Indians headed into the playoffs, Kyla hopes to keep building momentum and help her team make a deep postseason run. SSC caught up with her to talk about reaching 1,000 assists, finding confidence and the people who have helped her along the way. Check out her answers at SSC Facebook Page:

The Season of Letting Go: What Fall Can Teach Us About Healing

Tiffany Stone, LMFT
Owner, New Hope
Counseling Services

There's a reason so many people love fall. The air finally starts to cool down, the colors change slightly, and something about watching the trees release their leaves gives us permission to exhale. Nature doesn't fight the season. It surrenders to it, and something beautiful happens in the process.

For many people, though, letting go isn't so easy. We hold onto grief long after a loss. We carry resentment from relationships that have hurt us. We replay old failures on a loop in our brain, or brace ourselves for new ones. And through it all, we tell ourselves we should be 'over it by now'.

At New Hope Counseling Services, we believe healing isn't about forgetting or forcing, it's about learning to carry what's yours and gently releasing what isn't. Therapy gives you a safe, judgment-free space to explore what you've been holding and to discover what life feels like a little lighter.

Our therapists work with a wide range of concerns: grief and loss, depression, anxiety, relationship stress, life transitions, and trauma. Whether you've been struggling for years or are just starting to notice something feels off, you don't have to wait until things get worse to ask for help.

October is a natural time to reflect. The harvest season reminds us that growth takes time, that rest is part of the cycle, and that there's wisdom in slowing down. If this fall is stirring something up in you, we'd be honored to sit with you in it.

New Hope Counseling Services is located in Sanger, TX and serves clients in Denton, Valley View, Krum, Pilot Point, Ponder, Gainesville, and beyond. Telehealth is available statewide across Texas.

New clients are currently being accepted. Most major insurance plans are welcome.

Ken Paxton stops in Sanger to rally voters before the Nov. 3 election

On Sunday afternoon, Republican Attorney General Ken Paxton made his visit to Denton County, in Sanger at the Uptown Rail Brewery in downtown, to speak to voters about his race for a U.S. Senate seat.

The rally, part of Paxton's "Come and Take It" campaign, was held at Uptown Rail Brewery. A crowd of around 300 people were in attendance.

The "get out the vote" rally hosted nine speakers from local and statewide positions and races, including U.S. House Rep. Brandon Gill, Texas House Rep. Shelley Luther and Texas House Rep. Jared Patterson.

After the speakers, Paxton took the stage for about 15 minutes. He spent another 30 minutes taking pictures with the attendees.

The Texas Senate race between GOP candidate Ken Paxton and Democratic candidate James Talarico is the most expensive race in U.S. history. There is a national spotlight on this race in Texas. A senate poll shows them tied.

Talarico held a rally in Denton, recently, speaking to UNT students.

Whether you are a Democrat, Republican or Independent, such a rally is a big deal when it comes to Sanger.
