Spirit of Sanger band just misses out on advancing to state

The Spirit of Sanger Marching Band earned a trip to the finals with their OUTSTANDING performance at Saturday's University Interscholastic League Area Marching contest at CH Collins in Denton. They moved from 10th place to 6th. Final placement in music was 4th from two judges and 3rd from one judge. Sanger missed advancing to state by a mere two points. "That's how many mountains the Spirit of Sanger band moved," said band director Mike Sheffield. "With consistency, focus, and concentration on fundamentals, we showed the Big Boys what a 71 piece band with no guard and no props can show up and do."

"It was my joy to applaud the students Saturday. To watch them achieve, to succeed, and realize the reward (both musical and competitive) to their work. Seeing their smiles, knowing they did a good job and hearing about their best show, even before the placements, THOSE are the real trophies. Those 'trophies' can't be bought, only earned. The Spirit of Sanger came together, after many months of working behind the scenes, put it all together and made magic."

Grant helps Sanger ISD stock shelves with fresh fruit, vegetables

A community garden is beginning to take shape in Sanger that will soon supply fresh fruits and vegetables for a unique grocery store inside Linda Tutt High School as well as for others in need in Denton County.

Called Community Strong Farms, the garden is sup-

"One in four children have experienced adverse childhood events in their life," said Danelle Parker, director of Community Health Improvement at Texas Health for Collin, Denton and Wise counties. Parker said such events can be anything traumatic, including risk for homelessness, food insecurity, behavioral health, domestic violence, substance abuse or the loss of a loved one.

"If you can teach kids early on how to be resilient from what life throws at them, through coping mechanisms and other tools like that, you can improve their mental health and decrease the amount of anxiety and depression they will experience as adults," Parker said.

With the first grant awarded in 2019, Sanger ISD and its partners deployed THRIVE (Together Harnessing Resources to give Individuals Voice and Empowerment). The program provided students at Linda Tutt High School with resiliency skills training and support services including counseling and low-cost or free medical and mental health care.

The grant also supported the start up of a grocery store inside the school, giving students and their families convenient access to healthy foods. The store does not accept money but rather points that can be earned by students who perform good deeds or exhibit kind or resilient behaviors.

Under the first grant, more than 280 families were served through the grocery store, gaining access to approximately 12,600 pounds of food.

Paul Juarez, executive director of First Refuge Ministries, who had first envisioned starting a grocery store inside a school, said the Texas Health grants helped make that dream and so many more take flight.

"Texas Health is a yellow brick road for everything that we could ever hope and imagine," Juarez said. "The grants have allowed us to do what we already do, which is work well together to serve the community by providing us the funding and support to be able to do that. And it was more than just a grocery store; Texas Health allowed us to expand all our services and do a whole lot more than we were doing."

The second grant, awarded earlier this year, has allowed the district to expand the THRIVE program to even more students and help fund the community garden, located on 14 acres of land near East Milam Road and Tilley Lane donated by the New Life Church of Denton.

Currently, workers are busy setting up electricity at the garden and constructing a building that will be used for storage and to hold classes for district students to learn about gardening. Produce grown in the garden, which is expected to provide its first harvest in the spring, will supply the grocery store and other community food banks and be sold at a farmers market, with proceeds helping to fund the garden.

ported by a Texas Health Resources Community Health Impact grant.

In all, Texas Health has awarded two grants to the Sanger Independent School District, totaling more than $594,000, to work with community partners to address issues like food insecurity and to teach resiliency skills needed to help overcome childhood trauma.

Lady Indians upset no. 10 ranked Kennedale

Sanger (25-14-1) shocked number 10 state ranked and district champion Kennedale (32-6) at Carrollton R.L. Turner High School on Monday night, Sanger won in four sets (17-25, 25-18, 25-23, 25-18) in the bi-district round of the playoffs. The Lady Indians will take on Godley in the Area Round. Godley (31-8) is ranked 18th in the state.

Kennedale, ranked No. 10 this week in the Texas Girls Coaches Association poll, was coming off back-to-back state semifinals appearances.

Carly Schmucker led a balanced attack with 12 kills and Kelsey Amyx, Hanna English (5 blocks) and Lindzi Thomas each added 6 apiece.

Sanger head coach Scott Montgomery thought Sanger's defense was relentless all night. Lindzi Thomas had 26 digs, Avery Donaldson added 19, Carly Schmucker had 16 and Olivia Stanley added 10 digs.

Montgomery said it was a fantastic team effort from everyone. "We just played the two-time regional champs," Montgomery said immediately after the win. "But I just told them if we can play like that, we can hang with anybody and we give ourselves a chance. We will come out and play all out, and hopefully now they believe me."

GOOD LUCK AT STATE SHS CROSS COUNTRY!!!

Sanger High School will compete at the State Cross Country Meet at Old Settler's Park in Round Rock on Saturday. The SHS varsity girls team will run at 10 AM and SHS varsity boys at 10:30 AM.

On the girls side, the Sanger girls are coming in ranked third in the state behind Celina and Canyon with Salado and Fredericksburg looking to get on the podium as well. According to Sanger head coach Chase McMichael. If the SHS girls team runs how they've been running all year they will be in the top 5 with the possibility of moving up.

The SHS boys team, coming off of a 3rd place finish at regionals, will be looking to surprise people at the state meet. McMichael feels like they have been running well all year long and will be looking to move up at the state meet.
