Chief of Police Curtis Amyx retiring after 36 years of service to the City of Sanger

Sanger Police Chief Curtis Amyx is retiring and his last day on duty will be Friday, August 14, 2020. He's been with the Sanger Police Department for 36 years. Amyx is a 1980 graduate of Sanger High School and he was a reserve police officer in 1984 for one year, before he was brought on full-time in 1985. When he was hired, Sanger didn't have a night shift, but he was one of four officers on duty to cover the city. He worked under long-time chief Benny Erwin at the time.

There hasn't been much turnover as chief for the City of Sanger. Erwin retired in 2000 and Amyx took over as chief, in charge of nine officers.

He's built it up, currently, to 15 officers, one administrative assistant - Sheri Reynolds and one animal control officer. "I have a very loyal staff and during my watch they have never let me down," said Amyx, this week.

"He's dedicated his whole life to the city," said his wife Brenda. "I've been second string 24-7, 365 days a year, (she jokingly said). It's going to be hard for him stepping down. He's been so loyal to the job."

Being a police officer and especially chief of a small town you grew up in is very challenging. Amyx was able to balance that well. He also has pushed for his officers to have better equipment and salary raises to keep the citizens of Sanger safe.

"Curtis has served the citizens of Sanger in an exemplary manner during his long tenure. He has provided leadership during the city's time of growth and has been a calming force in a position that, by its nature, can be challenging. Much work goes on behind the scenes that others do not see, but Curtis' service in this manner is part of what makes Sanger a great place to live. I am so appreciative of his decades of service to our community," said Sanger Mayor Thomas Muir.

Curtis Amyx would handle situations to the best of his ability. "The most satisfying part of my job is problem solving. I feel it is my responsibility to listen to everyone's problem and come up with the proper solution. Sometimes the solution may not be in their favor but we agree that it is best for that situation," said Amyx.

With that comes the stress of the position. "The most negative thing is being on duty 24 hours a day 365 days a year. Not being able to sleep at night worrying about the police officers risking their lives to protect the citizens of Sanger," said Amyx.

Curtis Amyx has been Chief of Police since 2000. His last day on duty is Friday, August 14.

That could take a toll on a man, especially being in charge for 20 years. As many locals commented on FaceBook about a parade on Friday for Amyx that his retirement is well-deserved!

Sheri Reynolds has worked with Amyx for all 20 years as chief and three years before that under Erwin. She probably knows Amyx the best and she has tremendous amount of respect for him. "As a boss Curtis is truly the best! He has always been a very fair boss. He has always been very appreciative of me and the officers and truly cares about each of us. I myself feel very fortunate to have been able to have worked for Curtis," Reynolds said. "Curtis is a man of integrity, loyalty and honor as well as kind and caring. He is very devoted to his wife and family, even though the City of Sanger perhaps got more of his time than the family has."

Reynolds said Sanger has received so much from Curtis throughout his years with the police department. "He has given Sanger not only his time and efforts Monday through Friday 7-5 he has always been available 24/7 to answer calls, give information, answer questions and assist in all ways possible, not only for the police department but all departments for the City of Sanger. He has so much knowledge of all aspects of this town that go back from many years prior. He has worked hard to build up the police department, keeping it staffed with well trained officers. Curtis has always worked hard for Sanger and has always kept the well being of the residents of Sanger as his main priority. We have been so fortunate to have Curtis and it will truly be a great loss to the department and the city as a whole to when he leaves as he has given so much more than just his time to the City of Sanger, he has given us 35 years of his devotion and his life," Reynolds said.

Amyx is looking forward to spending time with family and friends, hunting and fishing, in retirement. People may not recognize him anymore since he won't be in his white or black unmarked vehicle and in uniform. Citizens have seen him that way for three and a half decades.

Sanger ISD still on path for August 24th start, registration still open

The start of the new school year is a few weeks away and academic instruction is set to begin on August 24, 2020 at Sanger ISD. Last Monday at a called board meeting, the Sanger ISD Board of Trustees voted to allow Sanger parents and students to choose which learning platform they will utilize for the upcoming school year. This year, SISD will be offering either face-to-face learning or online learning for students. Information on the two options can be found on the Sanger ISD website. In addition, they have prepared a video to assist you in your decision-making. It can be found at <https://youtu.be/32z2ogICXdA>.

In order to adequately prepare for the school year, SISD administrators asked parents to fill out the Learning Platform Commitment Survey. The survey was available until Monday, August 10th at 11:59 p.m. 1,143 participated in the survey and 33% chose online, which represents 471 students. But, there are a lot of parents that have not completed the registration process. They need to ASAP. (SEE REGISTRATION INFORMATION BELOW).

Dates are set at each campus for in person registration. However, if you need immediate assistance with the online registration process, please contact the campus administration offices.

If a parent did not fill out the survey, they can still choose between the two learning options. If you have filled out the survey, you are committed to the

Margaret "Peggy" Louise Phillips-Hughes

February 21, 1927 - July 30, 2020

Margaret "Peggy" Louise Phillips Hughes, born February 21, 1927, passed to glory Thursday, July 30, 2020.

Peggy was born in Fort Smith, Arkansas, and spent most of her childhood and early adult years in Siloam Springs. She came to Texas as an adult due to the job market at the time and worked for almost three decades at a company called Susan Crane in Dallas, Texas. Peggy has been married three times but never had children. Her third husband, Bill Hughes, took her to the beautiful East Texas town of Uncertain close to the Louisiana border when they got married in 1981 and had 17 years together before he passed away in 1998. Peggy remained in Uncertain until her Aunt Margaret Duvic passed away in 2006. She then returned to Dallas and has lived there with dogs and cats, particularly her cherished cat, Pixie, until the summer of 2019 when she had health issues and had to move closer to her niece and remaining family. The best words to describe her are loving, caring, headstrong, independent, determined, feisty, zippy, a wee bit vain (loved her beehive hairdos during the 60s), honest, and giving.

Peggy is survived by her niece, Patricia Nolan, and husband Bryan; and great-nephews, Chris and Dakota Nolan. She is preceded in death by her brother, Ray Duvic Phillips.

Aunt Peggy, we know you will keep looking for another cat to claim all your own while you are in heaven. We know you will constantly be futzing with a remote control up there. We know you will look down upon us with great love, memories, and grace. And, we know you will save a place for all of us in heaven when the time comes.

God bless you, keep you, and may he know that heaven has found another jewel to treasure for eternity.

Visitation was Sunday, August 2, from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. at Coker Funeral Home in Sanger, TX. A graveside service was held in Siloam Springs, AR, on Tuesday, August 4, at 10:30 a.m. at Oak Hill Cemetery.

Cliff married the love of his life, Anna Mae Vaughan on March 13, 1971. He and Anna were married over 30 years and lived in Krum, Texas, all their lives. Cliff loved his family and friends as much as they loved him. He enjoyed hunting, fishing, golfing, and always looked forward to hosting weekly poker games with his friends. Mowing the lawn was one of his passions, and no one did it better than he did. Cliff always watched the weather in order to plan the day he would mow.

August 11, 13, & 15
6 p.m.
Sanger High School

Whether you are feeling scared or excited or a little of both about this coming school year, prayer organizers want to rally together as a strong community and collectively pray for Sanger ISD staff, teachers, and students. JOIN THEM!

• Thursday, August 13: Linda Tutt Center, 6th Grade Campus, Butterfield Elementary from 6:00-6:30 p.m.

• Saturday, August 15: Sanger High School from 6:00-6:30 p.m.

They will gather both nights at Sanger High School in the back parking lot. Please stay in or near your vehicle once you park. Please respect social distancing and wear mask if you choose to walk around. They will have a time of prayer and worship for about 20-30 minutes; then they will disperse to the individual campuses. They encourage any staff to attend on the night of praying at your campus so that they may cover you in prayer. You can email Pastor Grant Bowles at grant@fbcSanger.com with your specific prayer requests (include your campus).

Parents can call your child's respective campus principal if you have any questions or concerns. They have added a three-week grace period so parents can ensure they have made the right choice for their child, allowing them to switch from online learning to face-to-face after the first three weeks of school. Once this grace period has past, students may not switch from online learning to face-to-face learning except at the end of the 9-week grading periods.

"I want to say a special 'Thank You' for all the support, understanding and patience you have demonstrated as we have been planning for this school year. We have a great challenge ahead, but together we can and will be successful. I look forward to a wonderful school year and being able to serve your children," said Dr. Tommy Hunter, Sanger ISD Superintendent.

UIL announces protocol for COVID-19 positive test

The UIL's medical advisory committee unanimously passed a motion last week requiring students who test positive for COVID-19 to be cleared by a physician before returning to extracurricular activities, including athletics.

Prior to Friday's meeting, there was not a protocol in place by the UIL that detailed how positive cases among students would be handled.

Earlier this summer, the Denton area had four positive COVID-19 cases tied to athletic programs. In mid-June, a member of Braswell's volleyball program tested positive for the virus. A student-athlete at Krum also tested positive, as well as a member of Denton's football program.

A parent of a Sanger student-athlete also contracted the virus.

Sanger and Krum suspended all summer workouts for two weeks, while Braswell and Denton suspended them indefinitely.

In the UIL's virtual meeting on Friday morning, it did not list requirements for school districts or teams to shut down in-person instruction if there is a positive case.

Monday was the first day the UIL allowed Class 4A and under programs to practice in full pads. "Things have gone great in pads. The guys have re-learned everything quickly and we are getting lots of great reps. I'm cautiously optimistic," said Coach Rocky Smart. The Indians will only have one scrimmage (next week), when they host Jacksboro at 6 and 7 p.m.. Before COVID-19 restrictions, Sanger was set to scrimmage Anna August 14 and Ft. Worth Castleberry on August 20.

Financial FOCUS

By Allen Chick,
Edward Jones

A generation or so ago, people didn't just retire from work – many of them also withdrew from a whole range of social and communal activities. But now, it's different: The large Baby Boom cohort, and no doubt future ones, are insisting on an active lifestyle and continued involvement in their communities and world. So, what should you know about this “new retirement”? And how can you prepare for it?

For starters, consider what it means to be a retiree today. The 2020 Edward Jones/Age Wave Four Pillars of the New Retirement study has identified these four inter-related, key ingredients, along with the connected statistics, for living well in the new retirement:

Health – While physical health may decline with age, emotional intelligence – the ability to use emotions in positive ways – actually improves, according to a well-known study from the University of California, among others. However, not surprisingly, retirees fear Alzheimer's and other types of dementia more than any physical ailment, including cancer or infectious diseases, according to the “Four Pillars” study.

Family – Retirees get their greatest emotional nourishment from family relationships – and they'll do anything it takes to help support those family members, even if it means sacrificing their own financial security. Conversely, retirees lacking close connections with family and friends are at risk for all the negative consequences resulting from physical and social isolation.

Purpose – Nearly 90% of Americans feel that there should be more ways for retirees to use their talents and knowledge for the benefit of their communities and society at large. Retirees want to spend their time in useful, rewarding ways – and they're well capable of doing so, given their decades of life experience. Retirees with a strong sense of purpose have happier, healthier lives and report a higher quality of life.

Finances – Retirees are less interested in accumulating more wealth than they are in having sufficient resources to achieve the freedom to live their lives as they choose. Yet, retirees frequently find that managing money in retirement can be even more challenging than saving for it. And the “unknowns” can be scary: Almost 70% of those who plan to retire in the next 10 years say they have no idea what their healthcare and long-term care costs will be in retirement.

So, if you're getting close to retirement, and you're considering these factors, how can you best integrate them into a fulfilling, meaningful way of life? You'll want to take a “holistic” approach by asking yourself some key questions: What do you want to be able to do with your time and money? Are you building the resources necessary to enjoy the lifestyle you've envisioned? Are you prepared for the increasing costs of health care as you age? Have you taken the steps to maintain your financial independence, and avoid burdening your family, in case you need some type of long-term care? Have you created the estate plans necessary to leave the type of legacy you desire?

By addressing these and other issues, possibly with the help of a financial professional, you can set yourself on the path toward the type of retirement that's not really a retirement at all – but rather a new, invigorating chapter of your life.

Amyx

“When I learned Chief Amyx was retiring, I had mixed emotions. On one hand, I was excited for him,” said long-time city councilman Gary Bilyeu. “After 35 years of dedicated and honorable service to our community, he definitely earned that right. On the other hand, the city will have a very difficult task finding a replacement of his caliber. It's been my pleasure working with Chief Amyx through the years, and I am deeply grateful for his service to the City of Sanger. I wish him the best in retirement.”

Sanger City Manager Alina Ciocan appreciates Amyx's service for so many years. “Chief Amyx has done an outstanding job for the Sanger community. His thirty-five years of service demonstrate his unparalleled commitment and dedication to the city. We truly appreciate the legacy he is leaving behind and extend our best wishes to him and his family as he embarks on this new journey.”

If any of the community would like to say thank you or bid a farewell to Curtis, they are more than welcome and encouraged to stop by the Police Department on Thursday and Friday.

There will be parade at 6:30 p.m., Friday, leaving from the Sanger Middle School and everyone is welcome to join in and participate in the drive by celebration for Amyx.

Reynolds wanted the public to know, since COVID-19 has limited Amyx a well deserved retirement party, you can also show your appreciation for his 35 years of service by sending him a card (P. O. Box 28, Sanger, TX 76266).

“Reynolds added, “I will miss the devotion he has put forth for police department and the city. I will miss the structure and comfort he provides for the department. I will miss him as a boss and a friend... you just can't replace a Curtis Amyx!!”
