Sanger’s Lynn Stucky wins Republican primary for State House seat re-election

Sanger resident and former Sanger ISD school board president Lynn Stucky captured 64.33% of the vote for State Representative, District 64, on Tuesday to win the Republican Primary against pharmaceutical salesman Mark Roy.

Stucky, the incumbent in the race after his 2016 mid-term election win that sent him to Austin, will face a Democratic opponent this November in either Mat Pruneda or Andrew Morris, who are headed for a run-off after winning 41.6% and 38.6% of the vote, respectively.

In the Democratic race, 7,350 residents of District 64 cast a vote, while in the Republican race, 13,329 residents voted. Stucky captured 8,575 votes to Roy’s 4,754.

District 64 encompasses Denton, Lake Cities, Krum, and a very small portion of Sanger. Stucky is a veterinarian and owner of Animal Hospital on Milam Road in Sanger.

Fallon finished the race with 65.11% of the votes to 20.66% for Estes and 14.23% for Craig Carter. That race saw 7,463 residents of District 30 cast a vote. District 30 encompasses most of Denton County, including Sanger.

Fallon will go up against Democrat Kevin Lopez and independent Keely Briggs, a City of Denton councilmember, in the November race.

TEXAS STATE REPRESENTATIVE – DISTRICT 106

With Fallon vacating his seat representing District 106 in the Texas House, an open race saw Jared Patterson winning the Republican nomination over Clint Bedsole. On the Democratic side, Ramona Thompson won over Michael Rhea.

District 106 includes portions of Denton County ranging from Sanger to Aubrey and Little Elm.

DENTON COUNTY JUDGE

The Democratic County Chairman spot was won by Angie Cadena, with 17,132 votes to Phyllis Wolper’s 6,386.

Mitzi Murphy

March 14, 1956 - March 3, 2018

Mitzi Murphy, 61, of Sanger passed away Saturday, March 3, 2018 in Denton, TX surrounded by her loving family. She was born on March 14, 1956 in Chattanooga, TN. to Beamon and Barbara Murphy. Mitzi married her high school sweetheart, James Murphy on April 1, 1982 in Chattanooga, TN. Their love for each other was not an April Fool's Day joke as they shared thirty six years together.

Her loving legacy and pride and joy were her six grandsons that referred to her as Mimi. Her early years were spent raising her three daughters. She enjoyed taking trips to the beach, collecting sea shells, Magnolia trees, bright pink Crepe Myrtles and celebrating all holidays. Valentine's Day and Halloween were her favorite because it was an excuse to indulge in chocolate and spoil her grandkids.

In fall 2016 Mitzi was told by doctors that her medical condition would only allow her body to live two weeks. She was encouraged by the love and support of family and friends to prove them wrong. Her determination to trust the Lord and "Just Believe" gave everyone an extra year and a half to celebrate her miraculous recovery.

Mitzi is survived by her husband, James Murphy, daughters, Nicole VanKirk and husband Mark, Shellie Melton and husband Adam, Faith Collins and husband William, six grandchildren, Ganon VanKirk, Addison Melton, Austin Melton, Paxton VanKirk, Waylon Collins and Aiden Melton.

She is preceded in death by her parents.

A memorial service was held at 6:00 P.M. Wednesday, March 7, 2018 at DeBerry Funeral Home.

heart was to minister to men coming out of addiction and to shepherd them to a life of freedom in Jesus Christ. He is known for his powerful prayers, compassionate hugs, and contagious smile. He is most known around the DFH for his wit and wisdom, affectionately known as "Arthurisms". He could always be seen sitting down with anyone sharing the love of God and the Gospel of Jesus Christ with them. Arthur was a dedicated member of The Church @ Denton Freedom House but enjoyed visiting other churches such as Denton Bible Church, First Rock Fellowship, Oak Cliff Bible Fellowship, Trietsch Memorial United Methodist Church and many others where he made lifelong friends. Arthur has been a friend, a mentor, a father-figure and a dear brother to many people of all walks of life. Arthur ran his life according to John 7:38, "Whoever believes in me, as the Scripture has said, "Out of his heart will flow rivers of living water." Because of the work of Jesus Christ in his life, Arthur, in his words, is "a stream of clean water that God uses to glorify His Name."

The memorial service was held on Saturday, March 3rd at 3 P.M. at New Life Church, 1350 E. Milam Rd., Sanger, TX 76266.

10 ways to fix your home Wi-Fi problems

When Wi-Fi slows down, so does our entire life. Our email and browsers stop loading. Our streaming movies freeze. Alexa stops responding. Our phones revert to data plans. Everything buffers at the same time, ruining the momentum of your routine.

There are plenty of reasons your Wi-Fi keeps slowing down: signal congestion, router location, firmware issues, hardware limitations or even the physical size of your home. Then again, it could just be your neighbors. They might be using the Internet on your dime, and all you get out of it is slower Internet speeds.

Here are ten ways to boost your home Wi-Fi and reduce the risk of connection failures.

• Update your router's firmware: The reason to do this step is twofold. First, you can take advantage of any additional features and improvements of the new version of the firmware. Second, your router usually receives any important security updates.

Usually, you will have the option to check, review, download, and install your router's new firmware on its administration page. The exact steps depend on your router's make and model, so check the router manufacturer's support site for detailed directions.

• Look for interferences: Routers often compete for airwaves with other household devices. Rival devices such as cordless phones, Bluetooth speakers, microwave ovens, and baby monitors can impact your Wi-Fi network.

To help you pinpoint issues, you can create an actual Wi-Fi "heat" map of your area using a free tool like Heat-Mapper. By the way, Netspot works for Macs. You can also use an app like the free Wi-Fi Analyzer for Android that has a real-time signal strength meter.

• Change channels: You can also select a different channel for your router. This is especially helpful if you're tuned to that 2.4GHz frequency. Moving from one channel to a less crowded one may help speed things up.

To check the optimum 2.4GHz channel for your area or the least used channel, try using a Wi-Fi scanner.

For Macs, Apple provides a free tool called "Wireless Diagnostics." To access it, hold the Option key while clicking on the Wi-Fi icon on the right-hand side of the menu bar, then choose Open Wireless Diagnostics.

For Windows, download the free Wi-Fi utility, Acrylic Wi-Fi Home. Similar to the Mac's Scan tool, this application will instantly give you information about the Wi-Fi signals in your area including the channels they utilize.

For Android users, there are a many Wi-Fi scanning tools available, but a popular one is Network Analyzer.

• Put the kids and guests on their own network: Parents can put their kids' devices on a separate network and establish special rules and settings. This can help keep the kids out of trouble on the web, and it eases the burden on your bandwidth.

You can set up a different Wi-Fi router, or you can simply enable your router's "Guest Network" option. You can also set up a different network name (SSID) and password for the guest network to avoid confusion with your main network.

Guest networks are meant for visitors to your home who might need a Wi-Fi internet connection yet keeps your shared files private. This segregation will also work for your smart appliances and shield your main devices from Internet of Things attacks.

You can also use QoS (Quality of Service). QoS is a feature on some routers that will let you prioritize traffic according to the type of data getting transmitted.

You could set latency-sensitive applications like Skype, IP telephony, streaming media, and online gaming to have higher priority over other types of activity. If you prioritize Skype, for example, other software will down, ensuring your call is smooth.

Different routers have different ways of handling QoS, and most consumer-level routers have more simplified ways of enabling it by having presets available. Just check your router's support site for information on what each one does.

• Get an updated router: If you're in the market for a new router and you want improved Wi-Fi speeds and reach across your home or office, aim for at least an 802.11 N or AC router with dual or triple-band capabilities.

AC routers have a maximum spectral bandwidth of around 8 x 160 MHz, compared to the 4 x 40 MHz standard of N routers. In other words, the increased bandwidth allows more data to be transmitted without slowing down.

Additionally, by having multi-bands, you could keep older 2.4GHz devices on their own bands while keeping newer devices that support the latest Wi-Fi standards on the higher bands. This is like having multiple routers in one.

Newer AC routers also have advanced features not found in older routers. Look for specifications like beam-forming, Multiple-In-Multiple-Out (MIMO), multiple USB 3.0 connectors and Gigabit Ethernet ports.

Some top-of-the-line routers are even starting to roll out support for the newer AD protocol, also known as Wi-Gig.

• Try a mesh network: If you have a large house or office space that require consistent network speeds, a mesh Wi-Fi network is worth the money. Unlike standard Wi-Fi routers that require extenders for added reach, next-generation mesh routers are designed to spread a Wi-Fi network's coverage through multiple access points.

These systems usually come in sets of two or three separate units that work together to envelop your home or office with Wi-Fi coverage. As far as your gadgets are concerned, the Wi-Fi mesh is one big continuous Wi-Fi network.

• Check your security: When unauthorized devices mooch your Wi-Fi, it slows down your network. But even the type of wireless security you use can impact your overall speed.

First off, if your network is Open (no security) or uses WEP, change the security setting immediately. Obviously, an open network will make it easy for someone to steal your Wi-Fi, and the older WEP security is easily hacked. This leaves you with WPA, WPA2 with TKIP or WPA2 with AES. WPA and TKIP are older protocols and are now considered insecure. The way to go is WPA2 with AES.

• Change location: Another important factor that affects your Wi-Fi network's connectivity is its physical location. Try placing your router as close to the center of your home as possible. It's also a good idea to keep it elevated and free from any physical obstructions like furniture and appliances.

You may also avoid reflective surfaces like glass, mirrors, and metal because Wi-Fi signals tend to bounce off these types of materials. Walls, especially those made of concrete, can also severely degrade your Wi-Fi signal.

You may even adjust your router's antennas. Your router's antenna is omnidirectional, so the signal goes every direction equally. If you put your router along an outside wall, you're sending half your signal outside.

If your house is too big for a single router, you may need a boost. For distance issues, try installing Wi-Fi extenders around your house to boost your network's range.

• Choose the right band: Wi-Fi bands are not created equal. If you have a newer router, check to see if it supports the 5GHz band. Newer N or AC routers typically support this band. Unlike B/G routers that only transmit on the crowded 2.4GHz spectrum, N and AC routers could transmit on 5GHz as well.

Newer routers usually have dual-band capability. By enabling dual bands, you could keep older devices that only support the slower G specification on the 2.4GHz band and newer devices on the beefier and speedier 5GHz band. This is essentially like having two routers in one.

• Reboot your router: Most users have to reboot their cable or DSL modem from time to time. If your network seems sluggish, unplug both gadgets for at least 30 seconds. Plug in the modem first and wait for it to come fully online. Then turn on your router. Sometimes that's all it takes.

Make Sure You Choose The Right Financial Professional

What kind of lifestyle do you hope to have in retirement? Do you have a strategy to get there? If you don't have confidence in your plan, it may be time to engage a financial professional. But how do you choose the one who's right for you?

These days, you have more options than ever – including so-called robo-advisors. Robo-advisors typically use algorithms to assemble investment portfolios, with little to no human supervision, after customers answer questions online. Generally, robo-advisors are fairly cheap, and their recommendations are usually based on sound investment principles such as diversification.

However, when considering a robo-advisor, you should determine if an algorithm can address your needs as well as a human being – someone who actually becomes familiar with your life and all aspects of your financial situation. Furthermore, a robo-advisor can't really handle the new wrinkles that will inevitably pop up, such as when you change jobs, and you'd like to know what to do with your 401(k) from your previous employer – leave the money in that employer's plan, transfer the account to the new employer's plan or roll it over to an IRA. You probably couldn't receive a personalized evaluation of your options, based on your individual goals and circumstances, from a robo-advisor.

So, if you decide to work with an individual financial professional, what should you look for from this person? Here are a few questions you might want to ask:

• Who is your typical client? By asking this question, you may get a sense of whether a particular financial advisor has experience working with people in your financial situation and with goals similar to yours.

• What's important to you? The quality of your relationship with your financial advisor is important – after all, you may be working with this person for decades – and he or she likely will be involved with many of your most personal decisions. Consequently, you'll want to work with someone you connect with on an individual level, as well as a professional one. So, if an advisor seems to share your values and appears to have good rapport with you, it could be a positive sign for the future.

• How will we communicate – and how often? If you're interviewing candidates, ask them how often they will meet with you in person. At a minimum, an advisor should see you once a year to review your progress and suggest changes. Will they also call or e-mail you with suggestions throughout the year? Are you free to contact them whenever you like? Will you get a real, live person every time you call? Will they send out newsletters or other communications to update you on changes in the investment world? If so, can you see some samples of the communication vehicles they send to clients?

• How do you get compensated? Some financial advisors work on a fee basis, some on commissions, and some use a combination of both. Find out how your advisor will be compensated, when you'll need to make payments and how much you'll be expected to pay.

By asking the right questions, you should get a good sense of whether a particular advisor is right for you. And since this likely will be one of the most important professional relationships you have, you'll want a good feeling about it, right from the beginning.

Kathy Vidourek has been nominated for national LifeChanger of the Year award

Sponsored by the National Life Group Foundation, LifeChanger of the Year recognizes and rewards the very best K-12 educators and school district employees across the United States who are making a difference in the lives of students by exemplifying excellence, positive influence, and leadership.

Vidourek was nominated by her student, Lexie Mulford.

“Mrs. Vidourek has helped me with math throughout my high school career,” Mulford said. “She is hardworking, patient, kind, and selfless. She taught me to be patient with myself, and to always offer a helping hand to someone in need.”

After Mulford graduated from high school and moved away from home, Vidourek continued to support her in her studies.

“When I was trying to get into nursing school, Mrs. Vidourek helped me study for my entrance exam,” Mulford said. “She would invite me to her home, cook me dinner, and help me study for hours on end. She is the definition of a LifeChanger.”

Each school year, LifeChanger of the Year receives hundreds of nominations from all 50 states and the District of Columbia. Seventeen individual LifeChanger of the Year awards will be given during the 2017-2018 school year.

(1) Grand Prize Winner – will receive $10,000 to be shared with their school/district.

(4) Grand Prize Finalists – will receive $5,000 to be shared with their school/district.

(10) LifeChanger Award Winners – will receive $3,000 to be shared with their school/district.

(1) Spirit Award Winner – This award is given to the nominee whose community demonstrates the most support for their nomination. The winner will receive $5,000 to be shared with their school/district.

(1) Spotlight Award Winner – This award is given to a nominee in a specific discipline each year. For 2017-2018, the award was given to Debra Santiago, who works as a secretary and bookkeeper in Orlando, FL. She received $5,000 to share with her school, Timber Lakes Elementary School.

Winners are announced via surprise award ceremonies held at their schools. The grand prize finalists will also be honored at a national awards ceremony in spring 2018 in Bermuda, where the Grand Prize Winner will be revealed.

Sanger Indians Varsity Baseball

Sanger Indians varsity baseball team is 4-3 and seeing several players at different positions. Last week at the Gunter Tournament, Sanger beat Boyd 8-1 and lost to Aubrey 6-4 on last Thursday. On Friday, Boyd beat Sanger 6-5 and the Indians defeated Gunter 8-5.

Against Gunter, the game was tied at five with Sanger batting in the bottom of the fifth when Griffin Welborn singled on a 0-2 count, scoring one run, which was the game-winner.

Trent White was credited with the victory for Sanger. He allowed two hits and zero runs over two innings.

Sanger had nine hits in the game. Brock Howard and Hagen Coin all collected multiple hits.

Saturday, a walkoff hit by Howard, gave Sanger a 4-3 win over Celina.

Mickey Sykes pitched Sanger to victory. He allowed two hits and zero runs over one inning, walking one.

Barnett led things off on the hill for Celina. He went four and a third innings, allowing four runs on nine hits and striking out two. Dell'anno threw one-third of an inning out of the bullpen.

Sanger tallied nine hits on the day. Brock Howard, Zane Walden, and Griffin Welborn all managed multiple hits for Sanger. Cade Hamilton led Sanger with two stolen bases, as they ran wild on the base paths with five stolen bases.

Sanger lost to Melissa later that night 10-0 to finish the tournament with a 3-3 record. A double by Luke Pennington in the first inning was a positive for Sanger. Coin, Pennington, Griffin Welborn, and Cade Hamilton each collected one hit.

Erik Ly had a busy day at the plate on Monday, smacking four hits in Sanger's 13-4 victory over Ft. Worth Brewer. Ly singled in the first, doubled in the fourth, singled in the sixth, and homered in the seventh.

Zane Walden took the win for Sanger Indians. He went four innings, allowing zero runs on two hits and striking out two. Ly, Coin, and Higa all put in work on the pitcher's mound in relief out of the bullpen, steering their team towards the victory.

Sanger had 18 hits in the game. Ly, Pennington, Howard, Higa, and Caleb Freeman each had multiple hits. Ly led the way with three stolen bases.

Sanger plays in the Grayson County Tournament this week. See schedule on page 10.

Tough Day on Texoma for Sanger Fishing Teams

Final regional qualifying tournament at Ray Roberts on March 10

The Sanger High School Bass Fishing Team was back out on the water February 18th fishing in the fourth tournament of the THSBA North Division series. The team is fighting to garner as many spots as possible for the regional tournament in April and ultimately move onto the state championship in May.

There were 218 teams on Texoma grinding it out but by the end of the day only 61 of those teams brought fish to the scale. Two of those teams were from Sanger. Ryan Penton and Ezra Walden placed 12th and Brandon Henderson and Coleton Henry placed 50th. The team as a whole placed 12th out of 42 schools for the tournament and is currently in 7th place for Team of the Year standings.

There are 300 teams representing their schools in the North Division. The Sanger team standings are: 4th - Ryan Penton and Ezra Walden; 30th - Brandon Henderson and Coleton Henry; 46th - Dayton Hawkins and Teddy Reynolds; 56th - Bryce Mitchell and Cal Bishop; 71st - Avery Walker and Branden Hartline; 74th - Gavin Dillard and Peyton Punches; 88th - Brandon Horst and Matthew Courtney; 129th - Bailey Vrba and Shane Stalder; 153rd - Dalton Adams and Ronan Graham; 157th - Phelan Graham and Drake Phillips; 161st - Grayson Rutledge; 165th - Jacob Leenhouts and Kenny Watson; 170th - Kaylee Jones and Felicity Lester; 179th - Sam Kirk and Austin Burgoon; 178th - Lauren Whisenhunt and Bryce Slovacek; 226th - Lynzie Rollins and Gabriella Bishop; and 235th - Clyde Callen.

Sanger will be back out on Ray Roberts for the final qualifying tournament on March 10th. Only the top 40 percent after that tournament will move onto the Regional tournament that will be held on Lewisville in April. Wish these anglers good luck and tight lines. Bring 'em to the scale Indians!

Ryan Penton and Ezra Walden placed 12th.

Brandon Henderson and Coleton Henry placed 50th.

SHS Art III do portraits of Russian orphans

What a “Memorable Experience”. SHS Art III students were sent photos of Russian orphans to do a portrait of that child. The portraits are then sent back to the foundation and in April, Memory Project foundation will deliver the portraits to the children in Russia. They will also do a video of the the orphans receiving their portraits and send us the video so students can see the reaction of the Russian kids as they get their portraits. On the back of each portrait is a small photo of the child, a photo of the artist that did the portrait, and message written in Russian for the recipient of the portrait.
