Two suspects charged with murder of Kenneth George

James Auxier, 29, was taken into custody Thursday, March 8 and Leonardo Villarreal, 38, also was arrested that night, a spokesman for police said. Both suspects were charged with murder, and both have been released from Denton City Jail after posting $100,000 bail each.

They are accused of killing Kenneth Wayne George, a 58-year-old Krum resident, who was born and raised in Sanger, according to a family member. George was pronounced dead three and a half days after the assault on Feb. 24, and his cause of death officially has been ruled a homicide due to blunt force trauma of the abdomen, Tarrant County Medical Examiner spokesman Troy Taylor said. The injuries he suffered in the assault led to his death, authorities said.

Denton police responded to a criminal mischief call outside Jack's Tavern, 508 S. Elm St., at 9:30 p.m. Feb. 20. Responding officers spoke with George, who suffered a large laceration to his left eye and a fractured eye socket, police said.

According to police, footage showed Villarreal violently striking Kenneth with a axe handle. He used both hands to swing the stick and struck him several times, the affidavit said.

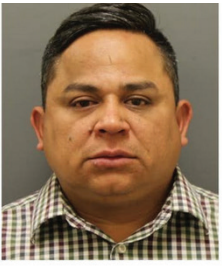

George fell out of the camera's view after Villarreal struck him in the head and torso, police said. Auxier is then seen approaching Villarreal and George. Police said Auxier "jumped in the air and stomped down with his left foot where [George] was on the ground," according to the affidavit.

Auxier then attempted to strike George again with the stick before Villarreal appeared to push Auxier away, the affidavit said. Auxier went inside the bar and returned to the area with several more people, the document states. He can be seen tossing the stick away from the scene, police said.

Three and a half days after the beating, around 5:30 a.m. Feb. 24, Krum paramedics were dispatched to George's home in response to an "unconscious fainting," according to Krum Fire Department Capt. Russell Woody. Woody said medics performed CPR on George before transporting him back to Texas Health Presbyterian Denton. George was pronounced dead upon arrival.

He was born on May 17, 1959 in Sanger, Texas to Bill and Joyce (Yarbough) George. He was married to Laura Park George. Kenneth graduated from Sanger High in 1977. He loved the outdoors with family and friends. He was a loving son, husband, father and grandfather. His great love was his children and his granddaughter. Kenneth will truly be missed.

Kenneth is survived by his father, Bill George, wife, Laura George, son, John W. George, daughter, Holly Jones, granddaughter, Alexis Lawson, sisters, Kathy Johnson and husband Ricky, Connie Odem and a very extended family. He is preceded in death by his mother, Joyce Yarbough.

Sanger FFA Buyers Club teaching valuable lessons

Sanger FFA and Jr FFA members have been busy all year with judging competitions and various vocational activities. Several FFA members have also been caring for livestock projects, many of them since the summer. Have you ever thought about what happens at the end of the show season, when all the travel and competition is over? These students have been preparing for this since Day 1.

Purchasing the animal is only the beginning. In an effort to secure scholarship opportunities, students put in countless hours feeding, washing and caring for their animals. Feeding time happens before school and after school. Then, there's washing and cleaning pens, dealing with the occasional sick animal. Weekends are often spent practicing for shows and repairing broken stalls or water leaks. The first hard freeze means heading to the barn to install heat lamps.

When competition time rolls around, there are hours spent traveling to stock shows, only to wait in line for hours to unload what seems like the entire barn from the trailer. Students have prepared for months in hopes their prized animal will place high enough in the competitive class to 'make sale'. 5 minutes in the ring to appeal to the judge to select your animal over the other 20 or so. Sometimes you win, sometimes you don't. The show results are simply one person's opinion on a given day. Regardless, everything is loaded back on the trailer and the trip back home begins.

For those who are fortunate enough to make the sale at a major livestock show, joy is coupled with a sigh of relief. Recouping their initial investment and often times breaking even on the expenses. For the select few who place and sell high, celebration is in order. The project was a success and there is a profit!

For those who simply did not catch the judge's eye that day, there is stress. A perfectly suitable animal, with the same amount of effort applied, just did not get 'the look'. There is the mounting feed bill and all the other activities that were put on hold by the family, to make this project possible.

Enter the Sanger FFA Buyers Club. This small support team, a part of the Sanger FFA Alumni and Friends organization, was created with the sole purpose of coaching these students along the way towards the end goal - a positive return on their investment. Through the organized effort of the Buyers Club, students consider the final sale of their animals even before the purchase. They are taught to identify fundraising outlets through the network of businesses they already frequent. The Buyers Club subscribes to the Co-op theory. Although many in the community would love to support a child by purchasing their animal outright, it's often times, not feasible. Instead, students discuss donation opportunities with the feed store where they purchase feed, the dry cleaners where

- 900 blk S Fifth - traffic stop. Warning issued.
- 910 blk S Fifth - traffic stop. Consent search revealed no contraband. Citations issued.
- 600 blk FM 455 - two officers responded to multiple calls regarding cattle in the ditch out of the fence, or what was posing as a fence. After a little light-show and music from the officer's patrol vehicle, two of the three bovine decided to walk right back through the so-called fence with zero difficulty. The third beast was herded by two officers back through a thing that resembled a gate in a previous life. Denton County Communications was unable to locate a phone number for the cattle/fence owner. A large amount of crime scene tape was then used on the "fence" in an effort to bluff the cattle into thinking there was actually some sort of barrier there.
- 5th @ Service Road - warning issued on stop sign violation.

5 free software programs that work just as well as the paid versions

As the saying goes, the best things in life are free: love, friends, and great software that works almost as well as a paid product. If you're like me, you have probably shopped around for certain apps or programs, and then you balked at the price tag. "Is this really worth $200?" you ask yourself. Sometimes, you have to bite the bullet. But other times, there's a free option that will get the same results. Most people know that there are very capable free alternatives to Microsoft Office. If not, you definitely need to tap into these free alternatives to Word, Excel, PowerPoint, and other programs. Free software isn't advertised as widely as paid software, so you may never have heard of the brand that could radically improve your digital life. Still, they're out there, waiting to be discovered. From cybersecurity to photography to screen-sharing, the perks of these programs can't be overstated.

Blake Pyron speaks at United Nations

NEW YORK CITY, NY – The National Down Syndrome Society invited Blake Pyron of Blake's Snow Shack in Sanger, TX to be featured as one of twelve speakers on Wednesday, March 21, as part of the World Down Syndrome Day Conference at the United Nations headquarters in New York City. Representatives from all over the world (including Spain, the UK, Italy, Turkey, and Poland) will share their perspectives on the positive impacts, challenges and strategies they have faced in their communities. Down Syndrome International will bring together people with Down Syndrome, their supporters and advocates, senior representatives of major employers, experts in the field of disability employment, government and UN officials at United Nations Headquarters, New York.

Their aim is to reach out to key employment stakeholders to ensure they see the benefits of enabling people with Down syndrome and disabilities to make meaningful contributions in the workplace; then encourage these stakeholders to help us bring about positive change. The World Down Syndrome Day Conference is an international conference held at United Nations Headquarters on or as close as possible to World Down Syndrome Day, organized by Down Syndrome International and sponsored each year by Permanent Missions of UN Member States and international agencies and non-governmental organizations. The National Down Syndrome Society (NDSS) The National Down Syndrome Society is a nonprofit organization with more than 375 affiliates nationwide representing over 400,000 Americans who have Down syndrome. The mission of NDSS is to be the national advocate for the value, acceptance and inclusion of people with Down syndrome. NDSS envisions a world in which all people with Down syndrome have the opportunity to enhance their quality of life, realize their life aspirations, and become valued members of welcoming communities. For more information, visit www.ndss.org.

Blake's Snow Shack Blake's Snow Shack is a world-famous snow cone stand located north of Dallas/Fort Worth in the small town of Sanger, TX. He is also a National Down Syndrome Ambassador and the 2016 Self Advocate Honorary Chair of the Dallas Buddy Walk. Here are five helpful options, available for download whenever you like.

- Free tool stops creepy online tracking: When I say "creepy ads," you almost certainly know what I mean: those ads that follow you from one website to the next, echoing the searches you recently ran on Amazon or Google. All you did was look up "canvas bags" once, and now little pictures of canvas bags are popping up in the margins of your browser. This kind of targeted advertising is based on "cookies," tiny files that your computer downloads without your knowledge. You can disable cookies, but an enormous number of popular websites use them to function. You can't even log onto Facebook without accepting the burden of cookies. A free extension called Privacy Badger is available for Chrome, Firefox, and Opera, and it's designed to spot third-party scripts. Basically, it will automatically stop your computer from downloading a cookie or tracker. This will prevent unwelcome software on your computer, plus it'll kill the targeted advertising that seems to read your mind.

- Turn your tablet into a second monitor: Many office workers are accustomed to working on a dual-screen setup, and they know how helpful this is for multitasking. You can move entire windows from one screen to the next, juggling several programs at the same time. But what if you could do this at home? Duet gives you this ability, connecting a PC or Mac to an iPad or iPhone. The touchscreen will continue to work, or you can use your mouse or trackpad in both screens. Meanwhile, the connection between the two devices is your tablet or phone's regular charging cable. When these cords and connectors are in good condition, they two machines communicate effortlessly – unlike similar setups that use WiFi.

- Tinker with Windows 10 security settings: For the record, I don't think "O&O ShutUp10" is the best name in the history of branding, but let me tell you: This is some useful software for Windows users. The program is designed to help you organize the security settings on Windows 10. Like all technology, using Windows is a delicate balance between efficiency and security. Windows 10 can easily access your email, your calendar, and your location, among countless other points. Gathering this information can help you in different ways, but it also makes you vulnerable to data collection. O&O ShutUp10 lets you manually tinker with your security settings, so you can decide what your computer accesses and how it uses the information it gathers. The tool also rates whether certain security settings are recommended, guiding you through the process. This is handy because most of us have no idea what settings strike a perfect balance between privacy and convenience.

- Free alternative to Photoshop: Photoshop has become the industry standard for image manipulation, and most serious photographers use Adobe products to perfect their landscapes and portraits. But Photoshop is also complicated to use, and the creative cloud requires a subscription service that gets expensive over time. One of the best alternatives is GIMP. This isn't your run-of-the-mill free photo editor: GIMP can add many of the textures, layers, and special animations that Photoshop can. Its arsenal of painting and drawing options can help you illustrate as well. GIMP has a very different interface from Photoshop, and some people scratch their heads over its workflow. But generally speaking, GIMP is a lot simpler to use. It's also free to download, and the software is regularly updated. GIMP has come along way since its clunky inception, and more and more Photoshop users are making the switch, or even cutting their teeth with this zero-cost alternative.

- Know if someone is watching you through your webcam: A hacked webcam is the stuff of horror movies: Most desktops sit in bedrooms or living rooms, and there are lots of intimate moments that a stranger could see. Laptops move around, and a stranger can watch your entire day transpire, anywhere the device is opened up. Worse, you may not have any idea that your computer's camera is being used as an invasive periscope. Hacked webcams are notoriously hard to diagnose. Spying is bad enough, but when those images (and audio) are captured, they can be duplicated, manipulated, and spread around the Internet faster than you can say "Photoshop." Once your images are out there, they are almost impossible to delete. This is why developers created Who Stalks My Cam, a program that not only determines whether your webcam has been hijacked; it does so in real time. The program runs continuously, so the moment your camera is compromised, you'll be alerted. Who Stalks My Cam then works to defend your camera from intruders. Note: Who Stalks My Cam only works for Windows. The Mac equivalent is Oversight, which works very similarly. Oversight monitors your webcam use, and it also keeps track of which apps have permission to access your camera.

What Should Investors Know About Recent Volatility?

As you may have heard, the stock market has been on a wild ride lately. What's behind this volatility? And, as an investor, how concerned should you be? Let's look at the first question first. What caused the steep drop in stock prices we experienced on a few separate days? Essentially, two main factors seem to be responsible. First, some good economic news may actually have played a significant role. A 17-year low in unemployment and solid job growth have begun to push wages upward. These developments have led to fears of rising inflation, which, in turn, led to speculation that the Federal Reserve will tighten the money supply at a faster-than-expected rate. Stocks reacted negatively to these expectations of higher interest rates.

The second cause of the market volatility appears to be simply a reaction to the long bull market. While rising stock prices lead many people to continue buying more and more shares, some people actually need to sell their stocks – and this pent-up selling demand, combined with short-term profit-taking, helped contribute to the large sell-offs recently.

Now, as for the question of how concerned you should be about this volatility, consider these points:

- Sell-offs are nothing unusual. We've often experienced big sell-offs, but they've generally been followed with strong recoveries. Of course, past performance is not a guarantee of future results, but history has shown that patient, persistent investors have often been rewarded.

- Fundamentals are strong. While short-term market movements can be caused by a variety of factors, economic conditions and corporate earnings typically drive performance in the long term. Right now, the U.S. economy is near full employment, consumer and business sentiment has risen strongly, manufacturing and service activity is at multi-year highs, and GDP growth in 2018 appears to be on track for the best performance since 2015. Furthermore, corporate earnings are expected to rise this year.

- Review your situation. You may want to work with a financial professional to evaluate your portfolio to determine if it is helping you make the progress you need to eventually achieve your long-term goals.
- Reassess your risk tolerance. If you were unusually upset over the loss in value of your investments during the market pullback, you may need to review your risk tolerance to determine if it's still appropriate for your investment mix. If you feel you are taking on too much risk, you may need to rebalance your portfolio. Keep in mind, though, that by "playing it safe" and investing heavily in vehicles that offer greater protection of principal, but little in the way of return, you run the risk of not attaining the growth you need to reach your objectives.

- Look for opportunities. A market pullback such as the one we've experienced, which occurs during a period of economic expansion and rising corporate profits, can give long-term investors a chance to add new shares at attractive prices in an environment that may be conducive to a market rally.

A sharp market pullback, such as we've seen recently, will always be big news. But if you look beyond the headlines, you can sometimes see a different picture – and one that may be brighter than you had realized.

Indians fall to Graham 6-4 at Dr. Pepper Ballpark in Frisco

The Indians varsity baseball team is making it an annual event to play at Dr. Pepper Ballpark in Frisco over Spring Break. Sanger lost the lead late in a 6-4 defeat to Graham. The game was tied at two with Graham batting in the top of the fifth when Graham's, Gibertson singled on a 1-0 count, scoring one run.

Zane Walden got the start for Sanger. He surrendered two runs on four hits over two and two-thirds innings, striking out two and walking zero. Dayton Harkey, Mickey Sykes, Katz Higa, and Tyler Lake each entered the game as relief, throwing two innings, one and one-third innings, two-thirds of an inning, and one-third of an inning respectively.

Sanger tallied 11 hits on the day. Erik Ly, Hagen Coin, and Higa all managed multiple hits for Sanger. Ly led with four hits in five at bats.

The Indians will start district play next Tuesday against Argyle. See schedule on page 10. Sanger has had a shaky last two weeks. Since beating Aubrey 9-4 on March 8, they tied Celina 0-0 and lost to some tough competition against Lovejoy, Sulphur Springs, Sherman, Graham, Braswell and Pottsboro. They host Denison at 7 p.m. on Friday in the final-tune-up for district play.

Brooke Rollins selected to Texas Girls Coaches Association All-Star

After playing a key role in leading the Sanger girls basketball team to its first regional tournament berth since 1981, junior Brooke Rollins was named a Texas Girls Coaches Association All-Star for Classes 1A-4A.

Rollins is one of 12 players who will compete on the all-star Red team, coached by T'Leah Eicke of Snyder and Kyle Sivadon of La Vernia. The TGCA All-Star activities will take place at a clinic in Arlington this summer.

Rollins is the first Sanger athlete to be named a TGCA All-Star since Reagan Miller in 2011. Miller went on to play college basketball at Liberty.

Rollins averaged 10.5 points, 4.3 rebounds and 3.1 assists for the Lady Indians this season while shooting 34.5 percent from 3-point range. She was the hero for Sanger in the regional semifinals, scoring 14 points in the fourth quarter to lead the team past Tatum.

The TGCA also announced its 2017-18 Basketball Legacy All-Star selections, honoring 20 seniors from 1A-4A and 20 seniors from Classes 5A-6A. Seniors do not participate in the summer clinic all-star activities but do receive a certificate.

Volunteers wanted

The Sanger Bargain Depot and Crisis Center serves the community of Sanger by providing residents with food, clothes or financial assistance. Volunteers are needed to help sort through donations, clean and organize the store as well as stock the food pantry.

Volunteering about 4 to 6 hours a month may not seem much, however it would significantly impact our community.

If you wish to serve with the Sanger Bargain Depot, please call us at 940-312-3772. If you cannot volunteer but wish to support our 501(c)(3) organization, call us, you might still be able to help in other ways.

The Bargain Depot will be open Saturday March 24, 11am to 2pm. Come shop in our store.
