Sanger Education Foundation’s Annual Gala raises nearly $100,000

The Sanger Education Foundation extends its heartfelt gratitude to everyone who made this year’s Gala a resounding success. Thanks to the generosity of the donors, sponsors, attendees, auction participants, and on-line supporters, as they raised just under $100,000 to support the students of Sanger ISD.

The evening was filled with excitement and generosity, with guests enjoying a variety of live and silent auction items, games, and fellowship. A special highlight of the live auction included PepperBelly’s incredible donation of not one but two Catering packages for 50 people, which collectively raised nearly $4,600. A new live auction donor, Texas Duck Creek Labradors, contributed a precious 13-week-old puppy, which brought in an impressive $5,500.

This year’s auction

featured a wide array of sought-after items, with 97 silent auction packages and 15 live auction packages, ensuring there was something for everyone. Jeff Isbell, who was attending the event for the first time, won the coveted Golden Ticket prize. The exciting Heads or Tails game crowned Sherry McCandless as its winner.

“We extend a special thank you to Pogue Construction, our esteemed Title Sponsor, for their unwavering support of the Sanger Education Foundation and our students.

“While the Gala has come to an end, we are still accepting donations in support of our students. Additionally, we are currently reviewing over $107,000 in Teacher Academic Instructional Grant applications submitted by SISD teachers and administrators. The selected 2025-2026 Instructional-

Grant recipients will be awarded and announced in May 2025.”

Student scholarship applications are open now and are due by midnight on March 25, Grant recipients will be awarded during Senior Night.

The Sanger Education Foundation is incredibly grateful for the continued support of the community, whose generosity makes a lasting impact on the future of the SISD students. “Thank you for believing in our mission and helping us create opportunities for academic excellence.”

Key decisions for retired couples

Nikki Smith
Financial Advisor

Once you and your spouse retire, you'll have some decisions to make — decisions that could affect your quality of life in your retirement years. What are these choices?

Here a few of the most important ones:

How much should you withdraw from your retirement accounts? By the time you retire, you may have contributed for decades to an IRA and a 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan. But once you retire, you'll probably need to draw on these accounts to help pay your living expenses. Consequently, both of you will need to be sure that you don't withdraw so much each year that you risk running out of money later in your retirement. One common guideline is to aim for an annual withdrawal rate of 4%, but everyone's situation is different based on age, pre-retirement income, lifestyle, health, travel plans and other factors. (Once you turn 73, or 75 if you were born in 1960 or later, you will have to take certain amounts, based on your age and account balance, from your traditional IRA and traditional 401(k) each year.)

When should you take Social Security? The answer to this question depends on many factors, such as your age and other sources of income. You can take Social Security as early as age 62, but your monthly payments will typically be bigger if you wait until your full retirement age, which will be age 67 if you were born in 1960 or later. And if you can afford to wait even longer, your payments will "max out" when you reach age 70. Your decision on when to take Social Security can affect your spouse — and vice versa. If the lower-earning spouse claims Social Security before their full retirement age — again, age 67 — their own retirement benefit and any potential spousal benefit will be reduced. (Spousal benefits are given to the lower-earning spouse if their full retirement benefit is less than half the other spouse's full retirement benefit.)

Should you downsize? If you live in a big home and your children are grown, you may find it economical to downsize. Of course, this is also an emotional decision, but you may find that you can save money by moving into a smaller home.

Where should you live? Some states are far more expensive to live in than others. You'll want to weigh your decision carefully, considering the cost of housing, food, income and real estate taxes, transportation and health care in whatever state you choose.

Have you finished your estate plans? If not, now is the time. You'll want to work with your legal professional to create whatever documents are needed — a will, living trust, power of attorney — to help ensure your assets go where you want them to go, and that your financial and health care choices will be protected if you become physically or mentally incapacitated.

Of course, many of these same issues will apply if you are single, divorced or widowed. But if you are married, you and your spouse will want to discuss all your choices and then decide which steps to take. Once you've got your plans in place, you may well find that you can fully enjoy your retirement years.

fore pulling away behind a big final period. Hunter Nelms led the way for Sanger with 15 points and seven rebounds. Alex Dee scored 12 points, Kason Peebles had nine points, Kevin Thomas Jr. and Baylor Beard scored five points each, and Dylan Brown added four.

Sanger finished one win short of first state semifinal in program history. The Indians made their third regional final ever this year after previously reaching the round in 1971 and 1978, according to Sanger Sports Corner.

Sanger ends its season with an overall record of 27-7. Sanger head basketball coach Bubba Stastny said, "I want to say how proud I am of this group of young guys. Even though it wasn't the outcome we wanted, they played hard and never quit. Getting beat in regional finals by #12 team in the state Kennedale. Very special group of guys, thanks!"
